Students E-Voting Software Development Report:

GENERAL ELECTION STUDENTS' UNION, SAC, VERSION 5.0 (GESUSAC 5.0)

(Under Guidance Election Commissioner & IQAC Coordinator, Sontali Anchalik College)

Introduction:

The purpose of this report is to provide an overview of a software developed using VB.NET, SQL, and XAMPP server for collecting student votes in a Students' General Election. The software is designed to enable students to cast their votes easily and securely. This report will cover the main features of the software, the development process, and the benefits it offers to its users.

Features of the Software:

The software has a number of features that make it user-friendly and efficient. Some of the key features include:

User-friendly Interface: The software has a user-friendly interface that makes it easy for students to cast their votes. The interface is designed to be simple and easy to navigate, which reduces the risk of errors and makes the voting process more efficient.

Secure Login: The software requires admin to log in using their unique ID and password. This ensures that only admin can log in his ID and prevents fraudulent activities.

Real-time Results: The software provides real-time results, which means that students can see the results of the election as they come in. This feature helps to increase transparency and fairness in the election process.

Development Process:

The software has developed using VB.NET as the programming language and SQL as the database management system. XAMPP was used as the local server for testing and debugging purposes. The development process involved several stages, including:

Requirements Gathering: The first stage involved gathering requirements from the client, which in this case was the College administration. This involved identifying the features that the software needed to have and the specific requirements for each feature.

Design: The second stage involved designing the user interface and the database schema. This involved creating wireframes and mock-ups of the user interface and defining the tables and relationships in the database.

Development: The third stage involved coding the software using VB.NET and MySQL. This involved implementing the user interface, the database schema, and the business logic.

Testing: The fourth stage involved testing the software to ensure that it was bug-free and met the requirements. This involved running various test cases and fixing any bugs that were identified.

Deployment: The final stage involved deploying the software on the college Local server and making it available to the students.

Benefits:

The software offers several benefits to its users, including:

Time-saving: The software saves time by allowing students to cast their votes, which reduces the need for physical ballot boxes and manual vote counting.

Increased transparency: The real-time results feature helps to increase transparency and fairness in the election process.

Secure Login: The software requires admin to log in using their unique ID and password. This ensures that only admin can log in his ID and prevents fraudulent activities.

User-friendly: The software has a user-friendly interface that makes it easy for students to cast their votes. The interface is designed to be simple and easy to navigate, which reduces the risk of errors and makes the voting process more efficient. Conclusion:

Conclusion:

The software developed using VB.NET, SQL, and XAMPP server for collecting student votes in a Students' General Election is a useful tool that offers several benefits to its users. The software is user-friendly, secure, and time-saving. It also offers real-time results, which helps to increase transparency and fairness in the election process. The development process involved several stages, including requirements gathering, design, development, testing, and deployment. Overall, the software is a valuable tool that can help College to conduct elections in a more efficient and transparent manner.
